VARIEITES

The word 'VARIEITES' is written in a large, bold, sans-serif font. Each letter is being held or touched by one or more simple stick figures. For example, the 'V' is held by one figure, 'A' by two, 'R' by two, 'I' by one, 'E' by two, 'T' by one, 'H' by two, 'E' by two, and 'S' by two. The figures are in various poses, suggesting movement and performance.

produced by the Classes of
NAPLES CENTRAL SCHOOL
Naples, New York

The Action Takes Place

Our play is set in the familiar and crowded class rooms of Naples Central School during the school year beginning in September 1958 and ending in June 1959.

Although we are mainly concerned with our own immediate setting, our show would not be possible without the overall background of community, national, and world affairs.

This was the year when our swimming pool was finally completed, the Democrats gained an overwhelming majority in Congress, and a World's Fair was held at Brussels, Belgium. Not overlooking the arts and sciences, Russian author Boris Pasternak won the Nobel Prize for Literature and the International Geophysical Year came to a close.

Against this backdrop, the ever-shifting panorama of these affairs, we present the story of Naples Central School.

All students in school are vitally interested in their country's affairs both at home and abroad. This is witnessed by the facts that our flag is always waving and many of our bulletin boards are filled with headlines of current events. Our library supplies us with the daily newspaper and current magazines. We have many debates in history and English classes concerning foreign affairs, taxes, and other items of interest. With this wealth of material, it is virtually impossible for any student not to know what is going on in America today.

Mrs. Morse gives Linda Pulver a few pointers on bringing depth into a landscape.

Mr. Hunt shows two chemistry students that precise measurements are needed in every experiment.

School is Serious

Mr. Cook demonstrates to his solid class the relationship between plane and solid geometry.

Mrs. Dean illustrates iambic pentameter, a rhyming scheme in poetry, to her English IV class.

Business.

Although we all like to have fun, we also know the real reason for attending school— to learn.

Every student is required to take four years of English and at least three years of history. Both of these courses help us to appreciate the past writings and happenings of the world.

There are also many other studies which help us to broaden our knowledge and interests. For those who are scientifically inclined, chemistry and physics are two of the most difficult subjects offered.

With many people taking these courses, the critics would find it hard to say that we aren't serious about our school.

It adds to the enjoyment of French class to have pen pals and to know exactly where they live.

Laura is still able to smile while Mrs. McKenna bandages her scratched arm.

All of the students in our school take the fundamental courses and if they are wise, they take other courses that help to make them a well-rounded person.

We have many vocational classes such as industrial arts, driver training, agriculture, and typing. All of these help the student prepare for good jobs after graduation if they don't plan to continue their education. If they do go to college, many of these courses make the work much easier.

The physical sciences are very important in this ever-changing scientific period. Every day something new is being discovered or invented. It is essential to keep abreast of what is happening in this "Rocket-Era" and what better way than in the classroom?

Learning how county, state, national, and world governments are organized is just one phase of the social sciences. Students must remember past history and that which is being made every day.

The "Three R's" represent just one part of the large variety of subjects a student can choose to study.

The Three R's

Everyone enjoys a good laugh when a new student stalls the car for the first time.

Mr. Schultz and his agricultural classes enjoy working on their crop demonstration which gives them valuable farm experience plus the satisfaction of community service.

and a Lot More

With Mrs. Doudt's guiding hand, the girls in home-making class learn to make their own clothes

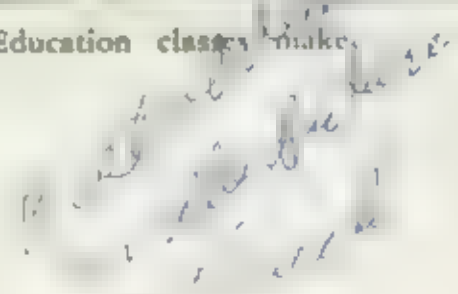

Mr. Schlappi instructs his shop class in the rudiments of carpentry.

Yes, that's right, but— Informal discussions in our Citizenship Education classes make history more interesting.

Meet the musicians! These representatives of the N.C.S. band played in the "Red" and "Blue" bands at the county festival, at Bloomfield

A harmony of smiles appears as the boys' quartet looks over a new song.

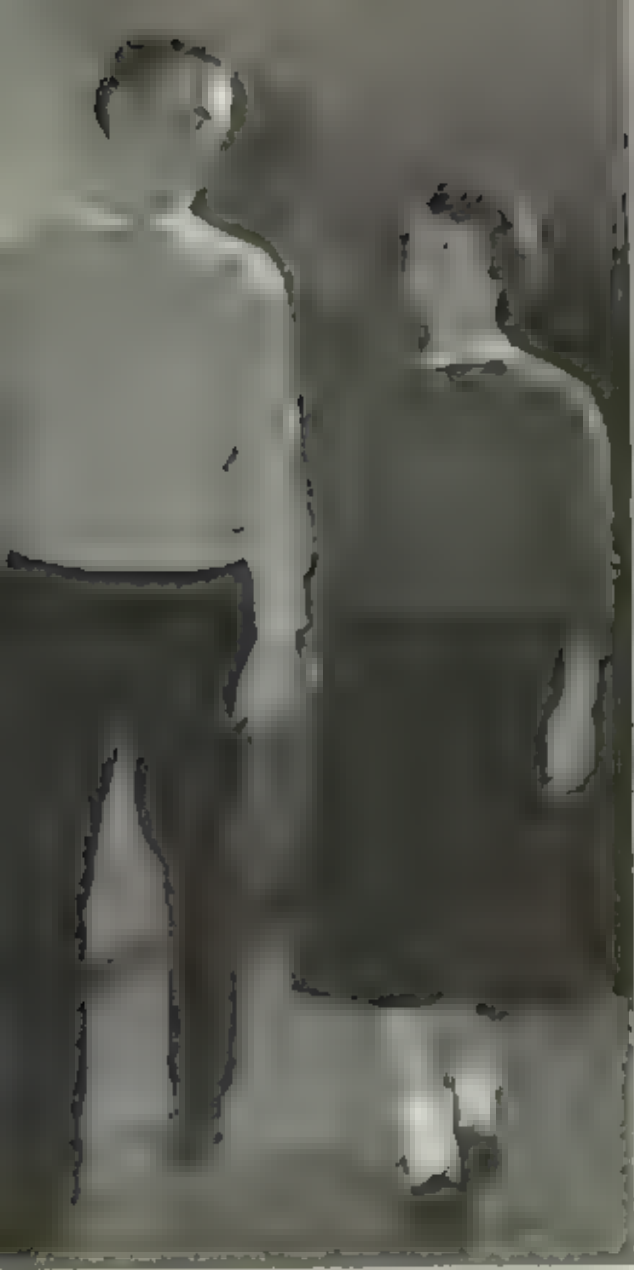

Miss Shay shows a group of students the latest books on scientific subjects.

Using the map to locate places we study about, makes social studies more real to the junior high students.

Miss Croft looks on as the typing class tries their luck at typing a perfect letter for a five-point bonus.

Heights and Depths of Emotions

Many things happened during the year that caused our spirits to go sky-rocketing or deep-sea diving.

Perhaps, the highlight of the year to everyone was their first swim in the pool.

Every student has minor disappointments—failing a test, losing a basketball game, or breaking up with a “steady.” Combatting these times, however, were the times when you passed another final with flying colors, won the game that meant even more than the previous one, or found a person who was much nicer.

In the script of our lives, these events make up just a few pages. They are, however, necessary to complete the drama.

Comic Relief in Abundance

Although we are in school primarily for study and learning, many things happen to add elements of comedy to our play. Everyone needs these events to break the tension of studies and exams.

Most comical things are not planned, as illustrated in the pictures. The night in senior play practice when Dick really hit hard, accidentally, may not have seemed funny to Mike, but it certainly was to the rest of the cast.

Although Field Day is planned for enjoyment, it adds to the humor to have people fall down in the three-legged race or sack race, especially if they get their feet caught in the bags.

All of these events certainly add to our enjoyment of school life.

The students and administration at Naples Central School make up the cast.

The freshman have mastered dramatic essentials, and making way for those who follow, have gone on stage and are proving successful in their bit parts and walk-on roles. The sophomores, now well established on our stage, have progressed to the playing of minor roles, while the juniors understudy our players. The seniors have attained the highest position on this small stage, to take their parts in the great play called life. As they stand on the threshold of new experiences, they appreciate those who have earlier climbed the same difficult way and have used their achievements to guide those who come now. The seniors also hope that through overcoming their trials and errors, they will have left their school a better place for succeeding classes.

VARIETIES

Miss Betty Lou Wells and Mrs. Jane Schenk, secretaries.

Our School Board is composed of five people from our school district. They supervise all school business and, if possible, get students' opinions before acting on decisions directly concerning the students. This year, our Board sponsored the school ring elections.

Mr. Llewyn U. Thomas, Principal

Our principal has the large responsibility of personally watching over every student in school. He is also an adviser to Student Council and Honor Society. With all of his duties, however, he is never too busy to nod and smile at his students.

Our two very efficient secretaries are willing to drop what they are doing and help a student look for anything from "soup to nuts." Jane is also school treasurer; so she helps all the activity treasurers keep their records straight.

First Row: Mrs. Schenk, Mr. Standish, Mr. Underwood, Mrs. Harbison, Mr. Woodard. Second Row: Mr. Landino, Mr. Perry.

Mr. Schultz, Mr. Lucas, Mr. Clark.
"Now, how big did you say it was?"

Teaching agriculture, general math, and advising the F.F.A. are just a few of the jobs Mr. Schultz does during the school year.

Our new history teacher, Mr. Lucas, is always willing to help students and organizations do things the democratic way. He is also adviser of the Freshman Class.

Almost any night after school, you will see Mr. Clark, our boys' physical education teacher, helping some team member to kick, shoot or throw a ball the right way.

Mr. Cook, another new addition to our faculty, teaches math and science. He is also pastor of the Italy-Naples County Line Church.

Mr. Cook
"Will it be a bookcase or an end stand?"

Mr. Sutter
"It is surprising what one can find in an encyclopedia."

Mr. Sutter, our Latin teacher, is always willing to help students with their personal problems as well as their Latin and English work. This year he interested the students in forming a Latin Club who put on an authentic Roman banquet in the spring.

Our driver training instructor, Mr. Rizzo, plays an important part in promoting public safety on the highway by teaching proper driving methods to the teenagers of N.C.S.

Miss Sanders, our junior high history teacher, is always able to highlight her classes with stories of her own experience as travel is one of her main interests.

Advising the News Staff and advising the literary editor of the Neapolitan, our English teacher, Mrs. Dean, is kept very busy during the year. She is always willing to help a student write an essay or prepare a speech.

Mr. Rizzo
"This cylinder should go up when this one goes down in your car."

Miss Sanders, Mrs. Dean
"This place right over here has beautiful scenery."

Mrs. Morse
"I think the tall piece of goldenrod should go here."

Our art teacher, Mrs. Morse, with her southern accent, is kept very busy helping students make posters, giving ideas about decorations for dances, and co-advising the Senior Class.

Famous for her cakes, Mrs. Gray, our math and French teacher, is also adviser of the Neapolitan Staff and of the Honor Society. She is vice-principal of the school.

Mrs. Gray
Which class will be the lucky one today?

Mr. Hunt, our science teacher, has been very instrumental in creating new interest in this subject during both the school year and the highly successful Summer Science Program. He is also co-adviser of the Senior Class.

Besides his regular duties with the three bands, Mr. Moore, our instrumental music director also finds time to advise the Sophomore Class and coach the junior varsity basketball team.

Our new vocal instructor, Mrs. Wilkes, has done a fine job with the junior and senior high choruses. She also instructs elementary music classes and has helped many soloists prepare for the annual music festival.

Mr. Hunt, Mr. Moore, Mrs. Wilkes
A little harmony floats out from the music room.

Miss Shay, Mrs. McKenna
Who's having the most fun?

Our librarian, Miss Shay, is always ready to help students learn the Dewey Decimal System and locate books, papers, magazines, etc. She is also co-adviser of the Junior Class.

As all students learn when very young, if you ever get hurt, just go to your school nurse, Mrs. McKenna. She can always make a bumped head or a skinned knee feel so much better.

Mrs. Doudt is our homemaking teacher, F.H.A.

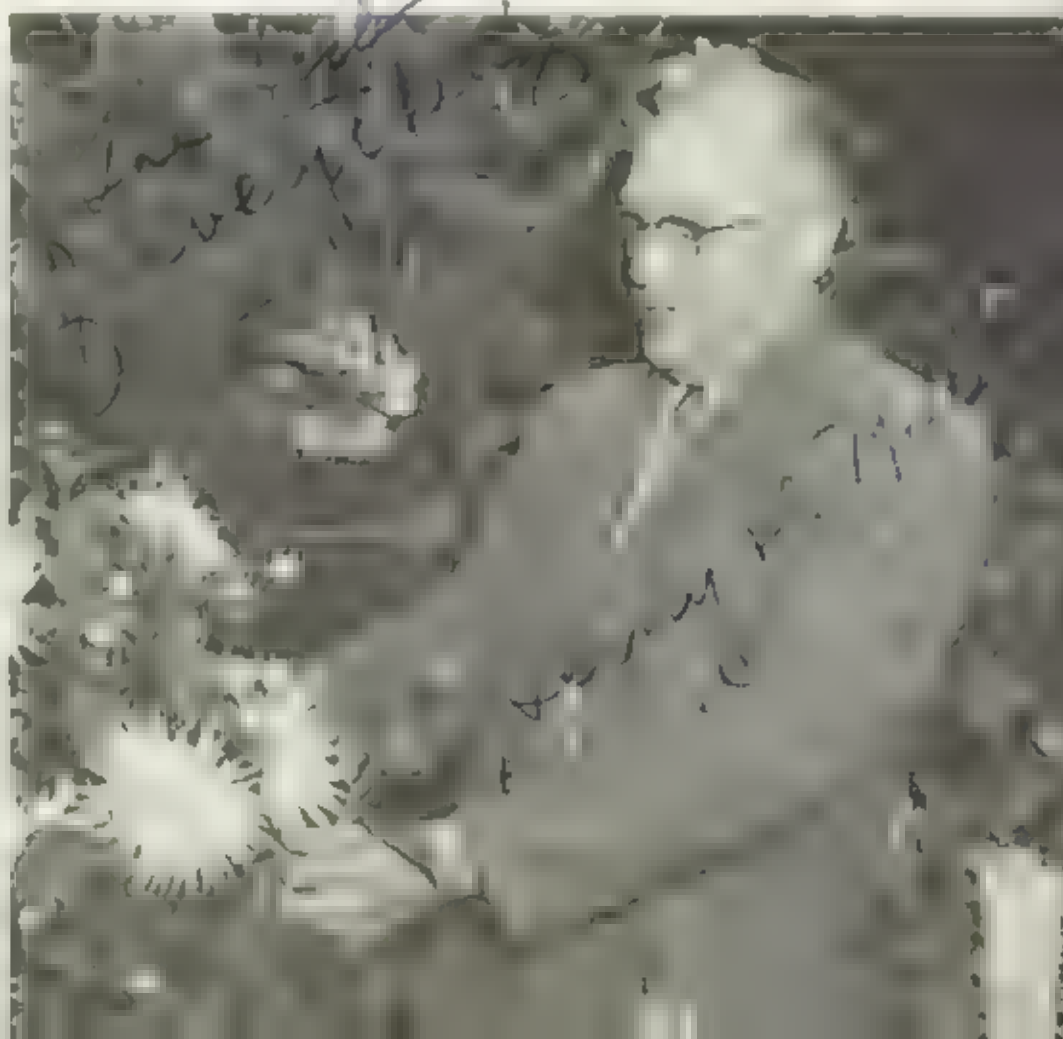

adviser, and source of such essentials as Kleenex, safety pins, and ice cubes. All of us enjoy her company, and are grateful for her helping hand.

To N.C.S. students, our junior high math and English teacher, Mr. Miller, is synonymous with our school. His fist crashing on the desk is a fond memory remaining with all of us in high school and still shocks junior high dreamers into surprised attention.

Mrs. Doudt
Getting ready to help her girls fit their dresses.

Mr. Miller
"Now, this is a lemon-yellow 'Magnetic,'"

Mr. King, our guidance counselor, is always willing to help any student solve his problems, revise his schedule, or pick out an appropriate college or university.

Mr. Schlappi, our industrial arts teacher, is a favorite among the students. Besides his teaching duties, he finds time to coach the junior high basketball team and co-advise the Junior Class.

Well known for his singing ability, our industrial arts teacher, Mr. Schlappi, is a favorite among the students. Besides his teaching duties, he finds time to coach the junior high basketball team and co-advise the Junior Class.

Although she insists that her home town team could beat any basketball team Naples could produce, Miss Croft, our business teacher can always be found at the Friday night games, cheering Naples on to victory.

Miss Davies is our junior high history teacher and our Student Council adviser. We can always count on her guiding hand and helpful comments to make the undertakings of any group more successful.

COOKS

Our cooks prepare well-balanced and nutritious meals every day. This noon, tunaburgers are first on the menu with soup and sandwiches for a second choice.

BUS DRIVERS

Like the proverbial postman, our busdrivers are out in all kinds of weather. They have the great responsibility of getting all "their children" to school safely and on time.

C. Atwater, G. Graves, J. Tilley, E. Evarts, H. Williams.

CUSTODIANS

The job of keeping our school running is left to these five men, our custodians. Besides their regular duties, they are always ready to help some student clean up a mess or repair a locker.

The Juniors understudy our stars.

As the time of our graduation comes closer we juniors are realizing how much we must still accomplish. This realization is evident in our more serious interest in school work, in our increased class unity.

We have retained our liking for the unconventional, preferring, rather than to follow the usual program of suppers, bake sales, and drives, to try out new ideas.

Our first venture of this sort was a three-act play, "Here Comes Charlie," presented in our freshman year. Unconventional hardly describes the results, but both participants and audience heartily enjoyed the presentation.

With our sophomore year began our sale of stationery, and our renowned smorgasbords, under the supervision of Miss Shay. As juniors, thanks to our other adviser, Mr. Schlappi, we are sponsoring popular round and square dances.

In our senior year we hope to complete the requirements for two long-awaited goals, graduation and our trip to New York, leaving Naples Central with the knowledge of a job well done.

Sophomores stay on cue in minor roles.

The "Class of '61" hit high school with a bang, and they haven't run down yet. They have a knack for getting things done, with a zip and a zest for whatever job they tackle.

First on the agenda this year was the initiation of the freshmen, which left the "Selpans" with no doubts concerning the fact that they had indeed been well initiated.

Later in the year, excellent advertising (and equally excellent food) made the International Supper a success.

Another exciting event of the year was the selection of class rings. This was made only after looking at many different styles, sizes, and colors of rings from various companies.

All in all, the sophomores had a very successful year.

The freshmen entered quietly into high school life, that is, until initiation. After becoming Hawaiian girls and cannibals for a day, they felt they really belonged in high school. With royal blue and white as their class colors, they ordered reversible jackets, which, when reversed, announced that they were from "Seipan." A fish supper and selling refreshments at two basketball games helped to add to their treasury. Success in their freshman year has inspired them toward higher goals for future years.

Variety is the presentation of our program during the year.

When we returned to school in September, there were two new organizations for students to participate in—the Latin Club and the Science Club. There were also those from former years—the Student Council, Yearbook and News Staffs, Band, Chorus, and the annual Senior play was presented. Also, for boys, there was our major fall sport, soccer.

As the autumn leaves drifted to the ground and the snow followed, our winter programs were started. The National Honor Society held its first induction ceremony, the F.H.A. sponsored a talent show, and the Library Club continued its work. During the winter, basketball is a favorite sport. There are four teams in our school—varsity, junior varsity, junior high, and F.F.A.

As soon as the snow melts everyone starts thinking of the Junior-Senior Banquet and the Junior Prom. This is one of our special presentations of the year. Also during the spring our baseball season begins.

Our school year presents a varied program, some part of which should surely please each student.

Student Council-Membership is a high honor

The governing body of our school is the Student Council. This organization helps to make and enforce the rules by which our student body is governed. Each class and organization chooses its representatives to speak for them, very similar to our United States Congress. In this way we learn proper democratic procedure and have the chance to participate in school affairs.

All class activities must be approved by the Student Council so there will be no conflict on dates for suppers, paper drives, or dances. It also supports such things as the billboard, Monitor System, and Honor Patrol. The Student Council gives all classes a chance to "air their views" and settle their problems in a way patterned after our own government.

and a coveted prize-Honor Society

Being chosen for membership in the National Honor Society is one of the most coveted honors at Naples Central School. This is because of the high ideals of this organization. To be tapped for membership at the annual induction ceremony marks the climax in the student role we are playing. In order to become a candidate for membership, a person must have an 85 average. He must also rank high in each of the "stations"; character, service, leadership, and scholarship.

This year, the Neapolitan Chapter inducted the first members of the National Honor Society at Co-hocton Central School. Members strive to maintain the characteristics mentioned before and also try to improve their school. One of the principal ideals of these students is to learn how to be better citizens in their school and town.

The Creators of your "Neapolitan."

Linda shows some staff members a few artistic figures to be used in the Neapolitan.

Most people who read the Neapolitan do not realize the work that goes into publishing it. All of this work is done by the staff members and Mrs. Gray as an extra-curricular activity, after school and on Saturdays.

At these meetings a theme was selected, pages were typed, and lay-out was planned. All of this hard work was compensated by the fact that Mrs. Gray generally made a delicious cake which never lasted very long. All members, no matter how hard they work, feel justified with their sense of achievement when they see and read the finished product.

Completing the ad and patron pages marks a milestone in the completion of our yearbook.

We have our "Press Agents."

Our News Staff is the organization of our school devoted to journalism.

Every Wednesday noon, you can hear the editor-in-chief handing out the week's assignments. Staff reporters compile all the news of the school and send it weekly to our local newspaper.

Their other major job is to publish four quarterly issues of the "Tower Tattler". These contain school news, fashions, crossword puzzles, and even a lovelorn column by Aunt Agony.

The News Staff does an excellent job in creating good public relations by keeping the public informed on matters concerning our school.

Jackie shows Terry and Rodney how to set up a page for the "Tower Tattler".

There is always a lot of rewriting and typing to do before the news is sent to the local newspaper.

There are three bands in our school this year; the Senior Band, the Junior Band, and the Cadet Band. They have several rehearsals a week and these are climaxed by concerts through the year. The Senior Band also competes for a rating at the County Music Festival.

All students interested are encouraged to join the band and express themselves through music.

Through our Junior and Senior Chortises, we develop a greater sense of music appreciation. They also send representatives to the County and State Festivals and to various talent shows held in this vicinity.

Learning through doing is the motto

The major purpose of our organization is expressed in our motto, "Toward New Horizons."

Each girl learns better ways to live in the present and in the future. Her dreams of having a home and family of her own will soon come true and, as a result of the F.H.A. program she will be well prepared for her role in the drama of family and community life.

This year, the girls sponsored a bake sale and a very successful talent show.

of our F.H.A. and F.F.A.

The Future Farmers of America in our school is a very active and well organized group. It consists of boys of high school age who are interested in the improvement of agricultural methods. One of their main projects is to plan and care for a crop demonstration using the knowledge they have gained under the instruction of their teacher of agriculture, Mr. Schultz. This project gives the boys a sense of responsibility as they all have their own individual jobs to do and a feeling of pride to see a job well done.

Other than the crop demonstration, the F.F.A. sponsors various activities such as suppers and dances. They also have an active basketball squad which plays Future Farmers teams from other area schools.

"No popcorn in the gym." This is a motto of our Sportsmanship Club which is on duty during the basketball games.

Mr. Wohlschlegel, our traffic monitor, stands on duty during the noon hour and after school to guide children across the street.

Joyce Graff was our representative to Empire Girls State held at New Paltz State Teachers College. She is active in many school activities and it was for these qualities of scholarship and leadership that she was chosen to represent our school.

These two boys were selected to go to Boys State at Colgate University. Larry Schwingle and Peter Preston are outstanding citizens of our school and it was because of this that they were chosen.

After many hours of hard practice, running laps, and shooting foul shots, our varsity basketball team won all of its league games except two with Clifton Springs.

As "C" league champs, they went to the quarter-finals where they defeated Andover Central. They then traveled to the semi-finals, beat Arkport Central, and went on to the finals. In their last game, the boys used all of their tremendous skill and ability to beat Livonia Central by eleven points and carry home another Section 5 trophy for Naples Central.

B. Cermak, J. Chapman, N. Schenk, E. Richmond, L. Dillon, B. Reed.

In our school, basketball is one of our most important sports. It is not only a way for the boys to let off excess energy and to have fun, but it also teaches them the fundamentals of good sportsmanship. This year our Junior Varsity squad, under the direction of Mr. Moore, worked very hard, and although they weren't victorious in every game, they made up their losses in spirit.

Check him quick!

F.F.A.—R. Smith, Manager; L. Fox, D. Schutz, J. Tilley, C. Wilson, J. Steinmetz, J. Rector, D. Donley, M. Schutz, C. Stone, Mr. Schultz.

We play to win but also

Under the successful coaching of Mr. Schultz, our F.F.A. basketball team won all of its seasonal games. They then defeated Clifton Springs in the finals and were named Yates-Ontario County F.F.A. Champions again this year.

The boys have practiced hard, shown much ability, and certainly deserve their title.

show our fine sportsmanship.

Baseball is our major spring sport. This year, our team enjoyed a very successful season. They lost only one game out of eleven and this was to Red Jacket Central.

As league champs, they traveled to the quarter-finals and semi-finals where they defeated Arkport and Cuba. They then downed Bolivar in the finals and our Big Green returned home with the Section 5 Championship.

The first day of school our soccer team started its rigorous schedule of practice. This paid off as their record was seven wins, two ties, and only one loss—to Gorham Central.

The team went to the quarter-finals but was beaten by Red Creek Central. Although they were defeated, our boys displayed fine sportsmanship and ability.
